From the Baroque and Romantic to the contemporary and Broadway, March is always the month when diversity in music explodes across the region. Variety of style... opera to barbershop, TV themes to the movies, Gabrielli to Lerner and Loewe and even choral music with the circus. But that's the nature of the choral art form, there is no set shape or form to it. It's inherent characteristic is that the people involved in it love to sing. Style or genre doesn't matter.

Last month Ensemble received several emails complementing us on the coverage of the wide variety of music in February. The credit goes to the organizations that present that music. It continues again this month

March is really the most active month of the spring season with most organizations planning their major concerts this month so we would again encourage you to enjoy the musical bounty of southwest Florida by attending one of these concerts. Is there anything more important?

Enjoy!
